Scholl Canyon Press Conference

On August 20, a coalition of Eagle Rock community groups held a press conference at the foot of the Eagle Rock, to oppose the Scholl Canyon expansion plan. Following is the text of remarks by ERNC President David Greene:

"This project is not about the environment; it's not even about garbage. It's about money. Extending the life of the Scholl Canyon Landfill is purely about extending a revenue stream to which the City of Glendale is addicted.

"Rational politicians would all agree that in the 21st century, dumps do not belong in residential neighborhoods, and that poisoning the air breathed by anyone's children is bad. But when faced with the alternative of telling constituents their utility rates may rise when a dump closes, few are brave enough to stand up for what's right. But we in Eagle Rock believe in the integrity of the Glendale City Council, and ask that when it comes time to certify the Environmental Impact Report, they choose the No Project Alternative.

"Why? Because not expanding is the environmentally superior alternative. The entire Scholl Canyon expansion plan rests on an assumption that, at a rate of 1400 tons per day of trash going into the dump, it will close 7 short years from now, in 2021. The so-called "environmentally superior" vertical expansion plan extends that date to 2034. Remember that date, 2034.

"In reality, only about 700 tons per day of trash goes into the dump. In a Powerpoint given to Glendale City Officials last December, the L.A. County Dept of Public Works revealed that, at the current rate of 700 tons per day, the closing date of Scholl Canyon landfill, with no expansion, is estimated to be the year 2032. Not 2021 – 2032.

"So if Glendale does nothing, the dump still won't close until 2032, which is pretty close to 2034. Then why are we even talking about creating a Macchu Piccu of garbage on our skyline? Because it's all about money.

"Most of the trash that goes into Scholl Canyon is not from the City of Glendale. Glendale makes millions of dollars every year by renting Scholl Canyon to the wealthy communities surrounding us, from tony San Marino to beautiful South Pasadena. These cities take their garbage - empty Grey Poupon bottles, broken Sub Zero refrigerators, Godiva chocolate boxes - and truck it here to Eagle Rock, and then they pay Glendale to dump it up there.

"The City of Glendale craves the easy cash paid by its neighbors to dump their trash in Glendale's back yard – which happens to be our front yard. In the EIR, Glendale claims that if Scholl Canyon closes, it will cost their former customers more to haul garbage to dumps far away from populated areas. That's not an environmental argument – it's a sales pitch.

"So on behalf of the Eagle Rock Neighborhood Council, and the 40,000 residents of Eagle Rock, I ask the City of Glendale, and the Sanitation Districts of Los Angeles County, to do the right thing and let the Scholl Canyon Landfill die a natural death, for the sake of their children's health, and ours."

Glendale News Press Disses Eagle Rockers

How's that for an inflammatory headline? The Glendale News Press recently published an Editorial that opined Eagle Rock residents who oppose the dump expansion have been "unnecessarily worked up into a frenzy" by Councilmember José Huizar, and that our opposition to the expansion of the landfill is a political stunt to aid his re-election campaign.

Click here to read the Editorial.

Those who have been involved with this issue know that the truth is just the opposite: it's been the community who has helped our Councilmember evolve his position against the dump, and to nudge him away from just asking for concessions, and toward outright opposition to the expansion. That's how good government is supposed to work.

Eagle Rock's Little Beast is proving to be the little restaurant that could. Eater LA chronicles chef and owner Sean Lowenthal's steady climb to success as his family-friendly establishment marks its first anniversary. Its trademark patio doesn't hurt the restaurant's cause either, as it's an ideal spot to take in the waning days of summer.

In other Shopper & Diner News:

- Nearby, the chef and owner of Atwater Village Farm, Piper Goldstein, is also committed to continued success of her enterprise — even as she undergoes cancer treatment. Goldstein, as the sole owner of the corner store, is intent on keeping her business open even as she undergoes chemotherapy, says the LA Weekly notes. She has started a GoFundMe campaign to help raise funds during her treatment.
- The Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery is hosting an evening of sensory overload at Barnsdall Park in Los Feliz on September 13. Also known as EAT.DRINK.ART, Sys-Con Media writes, this food and drink festival will feature artisanal food and libations, visual and performance art as well as tunes from KCRW DJs.
- Before heading over to Barnsdall, stop by Mt. Washington for the Mt. Washington Made event on the same day. The marketplace of locally designed goods will offer wares from Knotwork, Palmer Ceramics, Liza Reyes, and more. The event, which takes place 9 am to 1 pm at Mt. Washington Elementary, benefits the school's PTA.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Affordable Housing Update from Housing Department

As the chairman of the Los Angeles City Council Housing Committee, I requested an update from the Los Angeles Housing and Community Investment Department (HCIDLA) relative to the tracking and monitoring, owner and tenant outreach, funding assistance prioritization, and preservation efforts of the city's at-risk assisted affordable housing.

My request comes in a time when the City of Los Angeles is potentially at risk of losing up to 15,000 affordable housing units in the next five years. Our objective is to make sure that our affordable housing units are not lost, and identify avenues to increasing the affordable housing supply through the funding mechanisms at the Federal, State and local levels.

Neighborhood Improvement Fund (NIF) Call for Projects

On Wednesday, the Housing Committee released a report to authorize the Los Angeles Housing and Community Investment Department (HCIDLA) to release the Neighborhood Improvement Fund (NIF) Call for Projects. The NIF is a $2.6 million program designed to fund small neighborhood improvement projects throughout the City of Los Angeles. Our staff is at work trying to identify such improvements in the First District, please contact our offices if you know of one that needs to be funded or would like more information.

Guatemalan Week Celebration

The Guatemalan Community in Los Angeles has been celebrating la "Semana del Guatemalteco" since 2002. This is an event to celebrate the rich culture and civic involvement of the Guatemalan Community. We were able to honor the Guatemalan community at Council.

Adjourn in Memory

Today, the city council adjourned in the memory of First District resident, Mr. Alfred Mendoza, Jr., who passed away surrounded by loved ones on August 21, 2014, after losing a valiant battle with lung cancer. He was 78.

Mr. Mendoza was born on August 10, 1936, in Los Angeles, California, grew up in L.A.'s Historic Filipino Town, graduated from Belmont High School and UCLA, and took his inspiration from his father and many of the first generation Pilipino Americans known as the "Manongs."

FIELD UPDATE

Highland Park Grand Opening of Our District Office

Thank you so much for coming out to our District Office Grand Opening in Highland Park. We had a terrific turnout, heard some great music, and showcased a beautifully restored historic building. We look forward to serving the community needs at our district office.

Over 2,000 Community Members Attended the Latin Jazz & Music Festival

Team Cedillo is pleased to share that they 1st Annual Latin Jazz & Music Festival this past weekend at Sycamore Grove Park in Highland Park had over 2,000 participants who enjoyed 14 bands over a period of two days. The music festival was made possible through a combination of public and private partnerships led by Team Cedillo, who produced the event.

The festival was presented by UnionBank as the primary corporate sponsor in partnership with Metro, KJazz 88.1 and featured Grammy Award winning artist, Poncho Sanchez and his Latin Jazz Band.

We are extremely excited about the tremendous community turnout to our first annual event, and to see so many happy people dancing and enjoying the festival. This festival is the beginning of making the First District number one, by taking back our parks and having quality programming for our residents.”

The festival was produced as part of our P.E.A.C.E agenda to bring ongoing arts and cultural events to the community. The festival also highlighted the newly restored historic Sousa-Hiner Bandshell where the bands used to entertain the audience for two days.

Debs Park and the Arroyo Seco Homeless Encampments

Although it has been months in the making, last week we began to clean up some of the homeless encampments there were in public parks in the Northeast portion of the district. Our first clean-up was at Sycamore Grove Park along the freeway, and this past week our team spent several days at Debs Regional Park and along the Arroyo Seco.

Team Cedillo collaborated with LAPD, Park Rangers, LAFD, Sanitation and the Watershed Hazmat Team. Since the area along the Arroyo Seco also falls in the District 14, we were able to collaborate with my colleague Council Member Jose Huizar.

Sensitive to the needs of the homeless, we also partnered with Los Angeles Service Homeless Authority to make sure that social service needs were provided to individuals who needed them. As chair of the housing committee, I am very sensitive to the needs of the homeless and have been formulating various models for long term solutions in providing the homeless services. This is a step in making sure that not only we remove blight from our communities, but that human beings are held with dignity and provided adequate shelter as well as social services.

Team Cedillo will continue to address the homeless encampments in the Arroyo Seco next week, and plan on working on other areas of the district just as we done in MacArthur Park a few months ago.
